HAPPY WITH CHANGES TO REPRODUCTIVE PERFORMANCE

PERRY TROUTMAN

“ We are always striving to improve our reproductive rates in our herd. We use a heavy amount of AI and embryo transfer technology in our program, so take-rate and overall reproductive quality in our herd are paramount. Live kids on the ground are our measure of success, and this makes nutrition a key factor in all the phases of our reproductive program.

We have been feeding Blueprint® exclusively for 12 months. Our percentage of live kids from the recipients has increased.”

“ Our embryo harvest rates, and the overall quality of the embryos and their viability, has dramatically changed. In our recipient herd of females, our embryo take-rates went from 11 out of 20 to 19 out of 20. The health and vigor of the recipients, donors and the offspring have also maintained or improved with Blueprint®.

The improvement that we have seen in live kids on the ground this year has been incredible.”
