

Danielle Cale, Rabbits, and Tradition® Rabbit Feed...

A Young Girl Making a Name for Herself...and Her Rabbits

Danielle Cale of Nottingham township in Wells Co. near Poneto, IN is the daughter of Troy and Kari Cale and has one brother, Jade, 16.

Danielle feeds Tradition Rabbit Feed to all of her rabbits. She raises Satins, New Zealand Whites, and Florida Whites. Her best show rabbits have been the Florida Whites. Tradition Rabbit Feeds has helped produce some amazing animals!!

Two of these rabbits are National Champions! Danielle achieved something no one in the Youth category has done in the history of the Florida White breed; she won back-to-back Florida White National's Youth Best In Show placings with 2 different rabbits, LUCKY in 2006 and REBEL in 2007. REBEL also won the Best Fur award which is an extreme rarity as bucks almost always lose to does.

Three other rabbits bred, born, and raised on Tradition Rabbit Feed placed in the top 10 at the Florida White OPEN SHOW at the 2007 ARBA National Convention.

Danielle is President of the Wells Co. P.A.T.R.I.O.T.S. 4-H Club. Her other 4-H projects include Junior Leader, Shotgun, Photography, Collections, and of course, Rabbits. Purdue University puts on Animal Science Workshops and Danielle was chosen to attend the Rabbit Workshop last June where she was selected as the Outstanding Rabbit Delegate. She is competing for Wells Co. 4-H Fair Ambassador this summer.

Any time not spent in the barn is taken up with studying, tutoring elementary and middleschool students, babysitting, youth group, playing volleyball, and having fun with family and friends. Danielle is currently a Junior and is intending to pursue a Jr. High/High School teaching degree and an ARBA Judge's License (by 21). Having raised rabbits for the past 3 years, she has achieved many goals and the last year-and-a-half she has been exceptionally busy!
